For the best experience, the minimum system requirements for a computer running Windows are as follows: Operating System: Windows 10 (64-bit) / Windows 8 (64-bit) / Windows 7 (64-bit) (Note: There are no compatible versions of Windows Media Player for the older operating systems) Processor: Intel Core 2 Duo / AMD Athlon X2 64-bit dual core processor or better Memory: 2 GB RAM Hard Drive: Minimum 30 GB disk space Internet: Broadband or cable Internet connection; some animation may not be displayed properly. Video Card: ATI Radeon HD 2600 XT or later, NVIDIA GeForce 8800 or later, or an Intel GMA 950 or Intel GMA 900 Sound Card: DirectX 9.0c or later, Windows Media Player 12 or later (Windows 7 only) The following are some of the great features of AutoCAD 2018: Collaboration Collaboration in AutoCAD allows multiple users on the same machine to work on the same drawing at the same time. A common practice is to have one author (or a "desktop author") work on a drawing while another author (or a "server author") reviews and reviews the results. Not only is collaboration great for sharing projects efficiently, but the workflow is simple to implement in a team environment. You can set default settings for viewing the desktop author's work, or you can collaborate in real time, so you can make changes to the drawing as the other person is working. Integrated with Autodesk Network Autodesk has made professional work collaboration easier. Now, you can go online and communicate directly with your clients, whether they're geographically far or close to home, and still be able to share your ideas. Everyone in the Autodesk Network is connected to everyone else in the network, so that you can easily share and make changes to drawings and projects. Open File Format Autodesk 2011 and 2013 release lists CAD software available in open file formats like DXF, DWG, and DGN. Newer releases are improving to an open format, which allows users to work with a variety of CAD programs. Autodesk plans to release Autodesk 360 in the fall, which is a cloud service that provides access to a portfolio of more than 70 CAD apps, creating an online community of designers, engineers, and architects who can exchange work directly with Autodesk programs
